SYMPHONIC CONCERT

SEASON CLOSÉS

The Regional Symphonic Band ended the the final concert of the season with a series of their finest efforts. The soloist, Peter Pesco, used his fine tenor voice to wow the audience with selections from opera. His great tone, power and range were applauded with thunderous enthusiasm even though the audience was extremely small for a Symphonic concert. The lovely day, the first such Sunday in months, kept the crowd away, but those who attended were richly rewarded. High points, following Mr. Pesco, were a Spanish "Commandante March" which was a powerful and rousing piece which led to "Selections from Mr. Lucky", a polished series of Mancine scores which composer the Symphonic Band always plays well. The Chessboard Suite from the opening series was an interesting musical description of the game. The pawns, rooks, bishops, king and queens were all made visible and placed in action by the sounds of the composition.

The Symphonic Band, under the direction of John Pandolfi, has once again brightened a winter season with some moments that will be remembered until they return to action next year.

PRINCIPAL SPEAKS TO TRI-TOWN GROUP

Albert C. Jenney, principal of Rochester Memorial School, spoke to members of the tri-town group of Parents and Friends of Handicapped and Retarded Children at Mat-tapoisett Inn. He was introduced by Mrs. Dennis Sylvia, president of the group.

Mr. Jenney explained the ungraded class system which has been in use for the past 4 years in Rochester. In describing the results of this method, Mr. Jenney showed slides of charts depicting the progress made by the students. The principal stated, "This method of teaching is being used in about 30 percent of the schools in Massachusetts. The town of Sudbury has been working with this system and found it very successful."

In response to a question on the hardship to teachers having to keep a record of progress on each child, Mr. Jenney noted that each teacher did not have to handle any-

One year is being changed at a time so that the full 6 years will be handled with the ungraded system. This ungraded method is also being used to a small extent at Old Rochester Regional High School with students from Rochester. Mr. Jenney also expressed the opinion that discipline problems were much less with their system.

With the perceptually handicapped child, the educator felt the phrase "mentally retarded" should not be used for them or any child with a learning problem. He feels the special education classes should resolve some of the child's basic problems before tackling math and reading subjects. In the area of cost, which is important to everyone, Mr. Jenney stated, "This system is only slightly more in cost, but well worth it."

Mr. Jenney, who was instrumental in introducing this system to Rochester, has a B.A. and M.A. in Education, and is presently studying at Rhode Island College for a Certification as School Psychologist.

Following a question and answer period, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, April 23rd, at 8 P.M. at Mattapoisett Inn.

Dollars for Scholars

The annual "Dollars for Scholars" membership campaign to raise scholarship funds for local students was announced today by Mrs. David Goodenough of 25 North Street, Mattapoisett. The drive this year will be held in Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester Saturday, April 6th and 7th.

The Citizens Scholarship Foundation of America, commonly known as Dollars for Scholars, has grown from one chapter in Fall River, Massachusetts in 1960 to 182 chapters in 34 states. These chapters have awarded nearly 4,000 scholarships valued at over 1,500,000.

In the Old Rochester Regional School District of Marion, Mattapoisett and Rochester, the awards committee awarded scholarships to 23 students in June of 1967.

The money for these scholarships is raised by local clubs, organizations, a dance, as well as the door to door campaign. This young ladies in the area to compete for scholarships, prizes and honors to further their careers. For the Miss Wareham event, any young lady between the ages of 18 and 28 who resides in Middleboro, Plymouth, Carver, Rochester, Marion, Mattapoisett or Wareham may enter. Their eligibilities should include charm, poise and display a 3-minute talent presentation. Any interested participants should contact Mrs. Rita Blair, 23 Tremont Road, Wareham, Executive Pageant Director.

Selected contestants will formally be presented to the public at the Miss Wareham Scholarship Ball, a new event this year, to be held on Saturday, April 20, at White Cliffs, Plymouth House, in Plymouth. Attending this important preview to the Miss Wareham Pageant itself will be parents, friends and interested public citizens as well as many local area reigning queens. Officiating will be Miss Kathy Schaaf, Miss Wareham 1967, who will be making one of her last public appearances before crowning her successor.

Several committees already have begun their duties toward making this event its annual success while giving the area its due share of the Pageant limelight. Acting as chairman for this annual Wareham event is Manuel L. Brun, capably assisted by executive pageant director, Rita L. Blair. Mrs. Emma R. Houle is financial advisor with Mrs. O. Jay Mueller in charge of patrons. The program book will be prepared by Mrs. E. Ames, while staging will be supervised by Miss Roberta Coggeshall. In charge of contestants will be Mrs. Barbara Coury, while Mrs. Herman Galavotti will lead the chaperones. LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I would like to comment on the number of teachers that were present at the ORRHS entry in the Drama Festival of March 23. Out of the 60 some odd faculty members, 3 were present; one the official time keeper, and the second the director of the play. This faculty as well as many other adults are always complaining about the apathy of students. Maybe the students need an example. If their excuse is that they have already seen the play it is a very poor one indeed. To misquote our late president, "Ask not what your students can do for you, ask what you can do for the students".

The teachers at ORRHS are always complaining about the impression that guest speakers are given when they speak at assemblies. I wonder what impression the other competitors got when they saw only three teachers from our school. I am sure that the teachers will want to share in the glory of our victory, but I am sure that the actors and actresses would like to have seen some support for something other than

Fellowship Lenten Service

A visual and vocal display in reverence for the joy and beauty of life was presented by the Fireside Fellowship of the Mattapoisett Congregational Church on Sunday night. The use of imagination and innovation produced a most unusual service. The young people commented on life today in their own way and with a gentle impact that survives the service.

Scenes of beauty were projected on the front wall of the church to the accompaniment of music. Lakes, fields of flowers, mountains, babies, puppies, raccoons, ordinary bits of beauty and life. This "Prelude of Song and Sight" opened the service.

A parody of the negative protest marches was effective. A group of pickets marched with slogans proclaiming a positive statement such as "The Devil is Dead". When they reached the front of the church, they faced the congregation and rotated their picket signs to spell out "GOD IS NOT HERE". Then a single placard was turned to transform the message and symbolize the power of an individual and the message changed to "GOD IS NOW HERE".

The scripture lesson was a Bible reading by Tracy Locke, Susan Southard and Christine Sharples in the form of a spoken round. Each read the same passage but on a delay for the second reader and the third so that the words echoed and repeated.

WALLPAPERS

A poem, "I Am the People, the Mob", was recited by Sharon Young. This message set the mood for congregation participation. Paper plates were distributed to individuals each bearing a current event news clipping. The receiver of a plate stood and read as it was passed to him so that these readings became a unison chant of stories of our daily life. Each participant was excellent in delivery and the imagery and use of creative imagination placed the service far out of the ordinary. It is refreshing to see constructive thought in action. It is inspiring to see fine youngsters create a mood which has impact.

Others participating were Mark Chase, the Call to Worship; Tracy Locke, Litany of Praise; David Betts, Meditation, "Paraphrase on Psalm 30"; Joan Darrah, The Prayer of Commitment; David Helfand, worship leader; Brian Roderick, organist; Debbie Kreider, Susan Silva, David Morgan, David Betts, Marice Cayton, Ann Hinman, Sharon Young and Beth Roylance, ushers; Cris Goodenough and John Ross, color slide projection; Bob Sherman, sanctuary lighting.

The Triple Threat

A NEW CHANCE

Editorial

President Johnson, in announcing that he will not accept the Democratic nomination for the Presidency, has nobly recognized the pressure for a change. It is ironic that his 3 most serious problems stem from previous administrations. It is also apparent that they are worsening.

The Viet Nam war was a Kennedy action. The conduct of the war, however, has been changed by a steady buildup. This is coupled with a strategy which allows supplies to flow freely to the enemy through open ports and allows the enemy sanctuary from which to strike. It is clear that no victory is sought or will be won. The United States will continue to pour men and material into a battle which can continue for generations under these conditions.

The spread of Civil disobedience has been encouraged by massive outpourings of money to reward every riot. This attack on order, this disregard of law by an organized few has created a climate of unrest in the country. There is a terrible danger to a society whose very foundation is respect for law by which we govern ourselves.

the United States poured money into Europe to build up war-torn countries. The giant giveaway still continues twenty-three years later. The administration of President Johnson tries to finance the world as well as defend every corner of it. It has placed us in a position of such weakness that an unscrupulous beneficiary of the generosity of the United States can and does attack our monetary system.

The need for a new policy, both foreign and domestic, is so urgent that the President himself sees the need to step aside. Only a new leadership will have the freedom of action to initiate bold new policy and strategy for the United States. D.C.J.

KEITH TO CONDUCT POLL

Congressman Hastings Keith (R.-Mass.) today initiated action on a constituent poll designed to aid him in determining where the people of the 12th District stand on the issues now facing Congress and the Nation. This is the second poll that the Congressman has taken in recent years.

Keith stated that recent events at home and abroad are of such magnitude that now, more than ever, each citizen of the United States will feel the impact of the decisions made in the Congress. He said: "The recent reverses in the Vietnam war, the deteriorating situation in our cities, the ever-growing threat of increased taxes and inflation are only a few of the problems we now face. These problems demand immediate attention and action -- carefully considered action. The views of my constituents will help to guide me in taking responsible steps toward the resolution of these problems."

The Congressman's questionnaire is an IBM punchcard containing 12 questions on current issues, and is being sent to 185,000 mailboxes in the 12th District.

This means that everyone who receives mail in Keith's district -- whether he lives in a city or a rural community -- will receive a questionnaire.

The mailing is expected to take a week, with 30,000 cards going out daily from Capitol Hill.

Keith has asked his constituents to consider the questions carefully, punch out the "yes" or "no" or "undecided" boxes with a sharp pencil and return the card immediately in an envelope marked "Poll" to his Washington office.

The replies will be tabulated by electronic computer. Keith said he hopes to have the tabulation completed in time to publish the results in the next issue of his "Washington Report" newsletter.

Keith said it is "always helpful to have the views and opinions of my constituents." Automatic data processing gives me the opportunity to do this, and I hope my friends and neighbors in the 12th District will take the few moments necessary to let me know how they think on these all-important questions."

Space also is provided on the card for constituents to write in their name and address if they want to receive Keith's newsletter and are not now on the mailing list.

Keith stressed that the printing and the tabulation of the IBM questionnaire are not being done at government expense.

About 50 notices of Intent to Suspend registration were sent to the Registry of Motor Vehicles last week for unpaid 1967 Motor Vehicle Excise Tax, according to Allen L. Sherman, Mattapoissett Tax Collector.

Frank Dolan from the registry accompanied by James D. Sweeney, supervisor from the Bureau of Local Taxation, visited the tax collector last week and organized the drive on delinquent taxpayers.

This drive is against two classes of delinquents. The first are illegal registration where excise bills are returned marked "unknown", "no Such Street", "No Such Person" or "Refused". These persons will be crosschecked through their licenses and will be called for a hearing and subject to court action. The second group are those that have not paid after receiving bills,

FIRE HAZARD ON WEEKEND

Burning grass combined with the high wind of the weekend resulted in two fire calls withing half an hour and a tragic death.

When he lit it the flames engulfed him and in spite of the heroic efforts of his neighbor, Anton Brockelman, who wrapped his coat around Mr. Deniz and put out the flames, Mr. Deniz died.

13 Stripers Club Dinner

The 13 Stripers, those gentlemen with so many friends that they do know what to do, do it royally. The little clambake that grew and grew and grew held its 21st annual party last Wednesday night and several hundred invited guests were hosted by the valiant 13. Two sittings of diners filled the Harbor Beach Club to overflowing and, following the wonderful seafood dinner prepared by chef Joe Lafferty, the guests enjoyed dancing.

It was a marvelous evening, as always, proving that good things do not always come in small packages.

Officers of the club are Bob Tilton, president; Bill Leahy, secretary-treasurer; and Raymond Bauer, vice-president.
